

We have recently become HCF Providers

What does it mean? If you are a HCF member, then you will be able to get a 100% insurance rebate for check up and cleans (2 per year), mouthguards, x-rays and fluoride. If you are not a HCF member, then nothing will change – we still value your patronage and will be treating you no different!

Why did your practice join now? We have been asked to, by many patients over the years. Previously, the rebates to patients and fees to the dentists weren't great, but they have improved.

Why not any other fund? We have applied to become Medibank and BUPA providers but have been placed on their waiting lists. Feel free to contact them if you would like to push our case for joining!

Should I join HCF or change health insurance to HCF? Health insurance is a personal decision. It makes sense to calculate how much you pay for extras and verses how much in rebates you will claim back. Obviously if you do not use extras much (eg physio, dental, optical) there is no point paying for extras. But if you do want extras or have extras and intend to keep it, then it would be a good idea for you to switch to HCF if you want to claim more back for your dental work.
