

Get involved in a longitudinal study

- Are you on the autism spectrum and aged 15 to 25 years?
- Are you the parent or guardian of a young person who is?
- Are you a non-autistic person and aged 15 to 25 years?

We are inviting all young people to take part in a longitudinal study

The transition from school to adult life for young people on the autism spectrum and their families can be a difficult period.

The aims of this longitudinal study are to identify and describe the unique profiles of Australian students on the spectrum transitioning from school to adult life and to understand the effects that this transition has on them and their families.

Once you complete the final survey, you will be given a $30 voucher as thanks for participating in the study.

To find out more about the project please contact Dr Lauren Hollier or a member of our team via email at SASLA@latrobe.edu.au, or visit autismcrc.com.au/school-leavers.

Visit autismcrc.com.au

Autism CRC is the world's first national, cooperative research centre focused on autism. We are taking a whole-of-life approach to autism focusing on early years, school years and adulthood.

Australian Government
Department of Industry,
Innovation and Science

Business
Cooperative Research
Centres Programme