We provide basic education to underprivileged children in the impoverished area of Bodhgaya India.

The first classroom began in a small tent in 1993. From simple beginnings the Prajnar Vihar School now educates 500 children in two solid, two-storey brick buildings with sixteen staff. The cost to educate one child per annum is approximately AUS $90.

The school has no religious agenda – Hindu, Muslim, Buddhist and Christian teachers and students work together for the common goal of providing and receiving an education.

Whilst the school is our main project, we support various other community enrichment programs such as:

- Medical aid to poor communities
- Rural schools
- Micro financing for women's groups
- Skill training for impoverished villages
- TB and Health Clinics

100% of your donation goes directly to the school and community enrichment programs. This is made possible because the BDA is run by a small group of people who provide their support and services on a completely voluntary basis.

500 students are educated at PVC School each year.

The smiling faces say it all. These girls will have the opportunity to pursue their own careers, such as teachers and nurses, if they wish.
